

BRAND GUIDE

BRISTOL FAMILY DENTAL CENTER

YOUR CARE IS OUR CONCERN

The visual and verbal system behind the practice: color, type, imagery, components, and voice, with the rules that keep them consistent.

A wordmark built from type

The identity is typographic. Two stacked lines of Open Sauce One Bold in uppercase, tight leading, with the tagline letterspaced beneath. No outside marks, no gradients, no effects.

White on navy

The tooth mark stands alone at small sizes: favicons, app icons, social avatars.

RULES

- Keep clear space around the wordmark equal to the height of one line.
- Never set the wordmark in cobalt; cobalt belongs to interactive elements.
- Never stretch, outline, or shadow the mark.
- On photography, set it on a paper or sky glass panel, not directly on the image.

Bristol blue, and one rule

Navy carries trust. Light blues keep pages bright. Cobalt appears only on things a patient can press, so color always means action.

Navy #0E2A47
Primary dark surface. Location card, footer, team card.

Cobalt #1D5FC2
Interactive only: buttons, links, focus rings, stars.

Cobalt Deep #164A99
Hover and pressed states of cobalt.

Sky #EAF1FA
Light section surface.

Mist #D7E3F4
Secondary light surface.

Paper #FBFAF7
Page background.

PAIR	RATIO	WCAG 2.1 AA
Ink on paper	17.4 : 1	Pass
Ink on sky	15.9 : 1	Pass
Ink on mist	14.0 : 1	Pass
White on navy	14.6 : 1	Pass
White on cobalt	6.1 : 1	Pass
Cobalt on sky	5.3 : 1	Pass

Muted ink text keeps at least 60 percent opacity on sky and 65 percent on mist. Ink is #10161F.

One family, seven steps

Open Sauce One in two weights, on a strict scale. Components never invent sizes; every heading and paragraph maps to one of these steps.

Two display moments on the site (the home hero and the gallery card) sit above this scale by design. Copy voice never uses em or en dashes.

Spaces and craft, not faces

The brand photographs environments and craft, never people. Interiors are bright and high key: white and warm paper rooms with navy and cobalt accents, washed in soft daylight. Clinical subjects are rendered in cool blue on deep navy so they live inside the palette.

Until the practice commissions its own photography, interiors are representative renderings and the site's disclaimer says so. When real photography arrives, shoot the actual rooms bright and empty in this same light, and keep people out of brand imagery unless a signed release and a professional shoot say otherwise.

Cards, pills, and glass

Pages are built from rounded cards on paper with a thin consistent gap. Buttons are pills. Cobalt fill means the primary action; white and outline pills support it.

Glass panels over photography tint blue: navy at 20 percent with backdrop blur for decorative strips, sky at 80 to 85 percent where text needs a guaranteed backing. Motion is one reveal curve with a 120ms stagger, and every animation collapses instantly under reduced motion.

Warm, plain, and honest

Written for a busy parent reading on a phone. Short sentences at an eighth grade level. Facts only: no invented credentials, counts, or awards. English and Spanish carry equal care, with Spanish in the usted form.

SAY

"You will always know the price before treatment starts."

"Call us and a real person answers, in English or Spanish."

AVOID

Jargon, superlatives, and pressure. No "state of the art", no "best in Orange County", no countdown urgency.

STANDING RULES

- One call to action everywhere: Book Appointment, plus click to call on mobile.
- Review quotes are verbatim excerpts with the reviewer's first name and platform.
- Counts and ratings are verified on the platform before they are published.
- No em dashes or en dashes anywhere in copy.
